CURRENT ISSUES IN MEDICAL ANTHROPOLOGY AND GLOBAL HEALTH SEMINAR SERIES [1]

Submitted by Catherine M. Zeigler on September 25, 2019 - 10:58am

During Autumn 2020, the Current Issues in MAGH seminar series will take place on Wednesdays 3:30-4:50. While this is also a class for credits, everyone is welcome to attend.

Speaker Line Up:

Sept. 30  Dr. Julius Doyle, St. Johns University, New York, NY (and alum from UW Anthropology)
Update of his project:  "I'm Black and I'm Strong: Health Effects of Resilience in the Face of Discrimination among US Black Men"

Oct. 7   Dr. Rachel Chapman, Department of Anthropology, University of Washington
"Love in the Time of #BLM #M4BL: Research Intertwining Syndemics of Racism and COVID-19"

Oct. 14  Dr. Ben Marwick, Department of Anthropology, University of Washington
"What Does the Archaeological Record Reveal About the Human Experience of Past Epidemics?"

Oct. 1   Mama Amaan Team:  Dr. Muna Osman, Hodan Rage, Sumaya Mohamed, and Dr. Rachel Chapman
Tentative title:  "Delivering Prenatal Education to Somali Immigrants during COVID-19: How a Pandemic Exacerbates Vulnerability"

Oct. 28  Dr. Sam Dubal, Department of Anthropology, University of Washington
"Against Humanity: A Treatment for a Pandemic of Institutionalized Racism"

Nov. 1  Hugo Puerto, Ph.C., Department of Anthropology, University of Washington, Drs. Pablo Montoya and Ana Blanco, Sinergias, Bogotá, Colombia
"Collective Action and the Importance of Storytelling during the Time of COVID-19 in the Colombian Amazon Region"

Nov. 11  No Class – Veteran's Day

Nov. 18  Dr. Steve Goodreau, Department of Anthropology, University of Washington
"Individual and Network Risk for COVID-19 Transmission: Adventures in Public Science Communication"

Nov. 25  No Class - Thanksgiving Break

Dec. 2   Dr. Raphaël Rabanes, Department of Anthropology, University of Washington
TBA

Dec. 9   Dr. James Pfeiffer, Departments of Anthropology and Global Health, University of Washington
"Syndemics, Pandemics, and Global Health Systems: COVID and Debt Forgiveness in the Global South"